

BALTIMORE PROM

Aspen Consulting Group, Ltd.

On June 9, 2002 Aspen Consulting Group, Ltd. presented a seminar discussing managed care, billing cycle review and employee dishonesty. John Bauer explained the advantages of a well-negotiated managed care plan. The negotiation process was described in detail concentrating on reimbursement and provider obligations.

The billing cycle was presented by Robert Haney. This topic developed methods to streamline and improve the collection process of a medical practice by organizing procedures at the time of service, training staff to maximize collections and holding collection agencies accountable. Instituting collection training and utilizing up-to-date computer and telephone equipment will greatly impact your accounts receivable.

John Bauer continued with an extensive review of employee dishonesty. Types of fraud as well as surveys were presented and explained. Fraud detection and prevention by establishing internal controls were explored. In conclusion, physicians enjoy and profit more when the office is well organized and efficiently maintained.
