Communication and education on the current issues facing clinical practices were emphasized at the OA bi-annual Head Nurse/Practice Manager Meeting held March 28-30th in Las Vegas, NV.

Always a unique feature of the bi-annual meeting is the ability for OA members to network and gain a national awareness of oncology practice as it relates to their local market. The general business round table offered great opportunity for suggestions and feedback that allows OA to tailor its services to meet our members' growing needs.

Attendees from nine states enjoyed several speakers on a variety of oncology-related topics, including side effect management of the taxanes, the use of low molecular weight heparins in cancer patients, and new advances in chemotherapy-induced nausea and vomiting.

Members were treated to a gourmet Italian meal at the Venetian Hotel on Saturday night, where they experienced the true flavor of Venice, overlooking the "Grand Canal."

On the following pages, please enjoy the photos and descriptions of the presentations and planned activities.
